DIRECTIONS FOR PLANTING TULIPS

The soil for the tulip bed should be strong and rich, with sand sufficient to make it pliable. If the subsoil is clay or extra heavy it is best to take out the soil to a depth of eight inches and new soil should be made. The early varieties for massing or beds should be planted about 5 inches apart. The larger Darwin sorts should be planted about 6 inches apart in beds. Among the shrubbery or in borders they can be placed as desired. Set them at least 5 inches under the surface and after the ground freezes cover them with several inches of leaves or litter, allow to remain till all frost is out of the ground in spring. It is not necessary that the tulip be protected but the covering helps to slower growth and our experience is that tulips bloom best and grow tallest and most robust when they grow slowly.

Tulips can be grown in pots in the house, allowing a 4-inch pot for a single bulb or four bulbs may be planted in a 7-inch pan. In growing them indoors they should be kept in a cool, dark place for three months after planting, so that they may gain full root growth before top growth begins. A cave or root cellar which is kept at low temperature is best for this purpose, and only a limited amount of water (just enough to keep the earth moist) should be given them until they are brought to the living rooms for blooming, after which time plenty of water and as much sun as possible should be given. If the flower begins to bloom prematurely, or before the stem is grown, place a paper cone over the bulb, leaving a hole about 2 inches in diameter at top of cone. This will tend to draw the flower up to the light and thus lengthen the stem.

Many planters use Snowdrops, Scillas or Crocus to plant between the Tulips in fall-planted beds, so that they may have earlier flowers than furnished by the Tulips and a longer display of blossoms in one bed. It is suggested also that early and late flowering Tulips planted alternately in a bed will furnish Tulips in bloom for fully thirty days in spring. Others set pansy plants between the Tulip bulbs and after frost cover the beds so that the pansies survive and come into bloom in spring just as the Tulips are fading away.

CANARIES

Live birds can only be shipped by express, customer to pay cost of transportation.

The Canary is by far the most popular of feathered pets. They thrive and multiply under confinement, and repay good care with cheerful and continuous song. Buy your bird by personal selection if possible, but you can trust us with your order by mail, as we will make most careful selections if you cannot visit our store.

Absolute cleanliness is essential in the care of your bird. Clean the cage each morning and scald the entire equipment in hot water every few days. Feed only seed that is clean, avoiding anything that carries dust and mold. A leaf of lettuce or piece of apple may be given once a week with beneficial results. A piece of cuttle bone should be in the cage at all times and grit should be supplied to help the bird grind its seed. White sand should be sprinkled on the floor of the cage to aid in cleanliness. The simple directions if followed carefully will reduce sickness and loss to the minimum.

HARTZ MOUNTAIN CANARIES.—They have the natural song, but are selected for range and variety. Owing to care in raising and selection these are far superior to ordinary Hartz Mountain birds. Prices range, $4.00 to $6.00 each.

Of all house pets, fish are the least trouble and expense. They require very little attention, yet interest young and old. The aquarium is not only a source of pleasure, but is also beneficial, absorbing impurities and moistening the air of the room.

SHIPPING BUCKETS.—When ordering fish to be shipped out of Des Moines, it will be necessary to allow 20c for a shipping bucket, for any number from one to six. For a large number allow 30c for bucket.

GOLD FISH GLOBES

We have styles and sizes of globes not shown here. Write for details.

In selecting a fish globe or aquarium get one large enough to allow at least two quarts of water for each small gold fish and it would be better if each fish could have three quarts or one gallon. That is, a two-gallon globe should not have more than three fish for best results. Successfully kept in smaller globes but require more attention.

Fill the globe nearly full of ordinary drinking water, cover the bottom of the globe with Superlative Crystal Grit or Superlative White Sand, supply a few stems of aquaria moss, place globe in a cool light place and you should have little trouble in keeping your fish in good condition. Feed the regular fish food only and not oftener than once a day, feeding only as much as the fish will eat at time of feeding.
